

FUNCTIONAL TESTING SERVICES

Making sure your software performs as expected.

QAT Global is here to support you in pursuit of perfection and higher ROI. Our fully customizable functional testing services are ready to meet any and all challenging end user requirements and timelines. Our resources blend in with various development processes; be it traditional, incremental, or agile. Our test professionals combine the balance of functional testing best practices and test flexibility in order to tailor an optimal test strategy for every client's situation.

Our Approach

Our approach starts with exploratory testing where our team gets to know your application. Based on their experience, they get methodical, develop a scenario matrix, and execute all possible test cases to assess application quality. This involves testing every function of software separately and all functions together.
